Publishers 107 Weil 38th Street--New York City I shall never forget the day I tried for that position. Having applied in person at the studio of the organist, I was at once put through scales and arpeggios and tested in every way to find the limits of my vocal range. I was allowed to sing one sacred song, and as the man knew nothing about the human voice, and had difficult with the accompaniment, and I being scared to death, I thought the day was surely lost. But, fortunately, the soprano of the church heard of my ability to read at sight (the one thing he forgot to ask me) and suggested my name to the committee. They heard me in the church and I was engaged at once. What funny...
