But the doubts are at an end, she said, boldly, and a scrap of paper taken from a Russian helm Is quite at your service, said Dashwood, adding, as the door opened, and a confusion of voices and approaching steps became audible, a lady s thefts are always forgotten. Not if her theft included his honour, said Mrs. Vivien, in a very low voice. No man could wish to place his honour in safer hands, said Dashwood, as he turned to look at the first person who entered, a beautiful young girl carrying carefully a dish of curds and whey, which she almost dropped on discovering the presence of the lord of the manor. She managed, however, to courtesy very gracefully, and to deposit the bowl on the table without any of the male assistance, that was so perseveringly offered by Major Georges and Lord Dolly. Her eyes were bright with anger, and her round soft cheeks rosy with rage; if she had dared, she would have soundly cracked these gentlemen s heads with her wooden ladle, for they had been chaffing her, and she was no match for their satirical banter. They had found out that she was one of the objects of the great man s admiration, and that her soul stood in ardent need of his prayers, personally conducted of course, but that her mother objected to such intercessions, and had actually threatened him with a broomstick if he...
